PROJECTS

Low Cost Laser Timing System (in progress) | C++, PCB Design, CAD

September 2026

- Designing a laser-gate timing system targeting sub-0.01s timing accuracy to compare vehicle acceleration runs, replacing manual stopwatch timing when comparing vehicles and drivers
- Programming an embedded C++ microcontroller to trigger laser sensors and transmit split times wirelessly, and designing a custom PCB and 3D-printed enclosure in CAD
- Aiming to have a final product for less than 20% of the cost of a commercial timing system

Real Estate Profit Maximizer | Microsoft Excel

September 2026

- Modeled 12 house orientation/size scenarios in Excel using the Engineering Design Process, identifying a configuration projected to increase income by 57%
- Created scatter plot charts to develop a relationship between acreage and sales price
- Built an Excel optimization model using cell referencing, arithmetic operations, TRUNC, MAX, AVERAGE to compare cost-per-square-foot across lot configurations
